Telemedicine and telehealth providers must be certified and monitored by a recognized certification organization. LegitScript is one of only two providers.

LegitScript Certification

For Telemedicine and Telehealth Providers

Let the world know you operate safely and legally with LegitScript certification for healthcare merchants.

Demonstrate your legitimacy to payment providers, search engines, and your customers by getting LegitScript-certified.

Healthcare Merchant Certification isn't just for pharmacies. It includes telemedicine and telehealth providers, and is mandatory for some major credit card networks and online advertising platforms. Without certification from a recognized entity like LegitScript, many banks, advertising programs, social media platforms, and e-commerce websites will terminate your account.

Why Certification is Important to Your Business

Adhere to Credit Card Brand Requirements	Visa and Mastercard require all telemedicine providers that process card-not-present transactions to be certified and monitored by an approved certification organization, such as LegitScript.
Participate in Search Engine Advertising	Participate in search engine advertising with minimal disruption. LegitScript's monitoring and data are used by all major search engines' advertising programs, including Google and Bing.
Improve Your Regulatory Compliance	Operate under applicable laws and regulations. LegitScript's expertise helps applicants identify and correct inadvertent errors in compliance with applicable telemedicine and telehealth regulations.
Be Trusted by Patients	Let your patients know that you operate safely and legally. LegitScript's website verification tool is used by patients around the world to determine who they can trust.

How to Become Certified

LegitScript certification ensures that providers of telemedicine and telehealth services are in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations. Many of the world's leading companies require or recognize LegitScript certification. To get certified, the process is straightforward:

1 Simply complete a healthcare merchant application about your business. This usually takes about 30 minutes or less to complete.

2 LegitScript will review your application against certification standards.

3 A determination is made based on the information provided.

4 Approved certified merchants receive a seal of approval and are publicly listed in LegitScript's searchable directory of legitimate providers.
